Security Advisory Services

Our expert team will review the organization's infrastructure, architecture, and design and continuously check all security issues arising in the industry which may impact the customer. Thereby providing the right advice on any new zero days that shows up. This is a highly customized service, where our experts review every new security issue according to the context of the customer organization.

This will be an advisory which provides information about:

- The issue and its way of impact
- How it can affect customers
- How fast does the organization react to it
- What is the first level defence available to a customer
- What is the permanent fix and how to apply it?
- How to check whether customers impacted by it already or not
- Incident response actions in case if affected.
